

CONSTELLATION DOT-TO-DOT

A constellation is a group of stars that come together to make a picture. Here are some examples of constellations in our night sky:

Each dot is a star and if you link up the dots in the right order it makes a picture. Some real life constellations don't make very clear pictures.

How about creating your own?!

Make a dot in each place where you think a star should go then draw lines between the dots to create the picture. See if you can design a dot-to-dot for someone else. When they join up the lines, does it make the picture you expected?

To make sure other people know what order to draw their lines in, try adding numbers to your stars. The first line you want to draw should run from star 1 over to Star 2. Then continue on in the same way. You can copy some of these real constellations or make up your own.

Why not try making dot-to-dot constellations of:

A cat

A banana

A house

A tree

Your own face

An ice cream

We can't wait to see your beautiful constellations. Don't forget to share them to our gallery!
